

"As Smart Looking As Your Club"

That's the way one enthusiastic tenant in a small office building described his new quarters. "There's a personal touch about the service. I like that too," he continued. "Everybody seems to want you to be comfortable. I was actually asked when I wanted my ice delivered. The tenants say when—then leave the promptness to the Knickerbocker Man. I'll say it's getting to be a nice world."

The "reporter" said that later in "hosing about town" he had seen Knickerbocker regiments in front of numbers of these club-like buildings. He takes it as a good omen on his Spring morning.

Knickerbocker

ICE Company

Vermouth

YOUR "private stock" will last longer and taste better if blended with this new non-alcoholic Italian Vermouth. Unequaled in flavor and quality.

Ask for M.O.U. QUIN beverages by name. Imitations are unsatisfactory.

Smoke our Cigares Boniface.

Mouquin

Restaurant & Wine Co.

234 Prince St., N. Y. Tel. Spring 3645.

Chauffeurs' Spring Outfits

All-wool Oxford Whipped

$74 Complete

Coat and Trousers, $33.50

O'Coat (Cravensette), $7.50

Cap, $3.00

Brooks Uniform Co.

(Opp. Met. Opera House)

143 W 40 STREET

COCHRAN & CO'S IMPORTED GINGER ALE

Made and bottled only in Belfast, Ireland.

The Genuine COCHRAN & CO. BRAND

BELFAST GINGER ALE

Finds favor in the most exclusive Clubs, Hotels and Restaurants, and is much in evidence at smart social functions.

THE GINGER ALE par excellence

BATJER & CO.

260 B'way, NEW YORK.

Agents for the United States.

The Most Perfect Non-Alcoholic Beverage Ever Produced.

Personal Accounts

Personal Trusts

We make a specialty of personal accounts, that is, the checking accounts of individuals. We strive to give individual personal attention to them.

Likewise, the bulk of our trust business has to do with personal trusts.

Inquiries invited.

FULTON TRUST COMPANY

OF NEW YORK

Member Federal Reserve System

149 Broadway

A good picture will keep you near your friends.

PIRRE MACDONALD

Photographer of Med.

676 FIFTH AV. COR. 47th ST.

KING CONSTANTINE TELLS WAR POLICY IN MESSAGE TO U.S.

His Cablegram to the 'N. Y. Herald' Says Greece Would Pacify Orient.

ANATOLIANS OBJECT

Treaty of Sevres Is Basis of Carrying Out Plans for Asia Minor Peace.

TO END ABNORMAL PERIL

High Regard for Civilization Behind Action After Patience Is Exhausted.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Copyright, 1921, by THE NEW YORK HERALD.

ATHENS, March 29, 1921.

To the Editor of THE NEW YORK HERALD:

In replying to your cable despatch the King of Greece is desirous that America should know his reason for calling the three Greek classes—those of 1913, 1914 and 1915—to the colors on March 20 and understand the policies of the Greek Government regarding Asia Minor.

The King, in his message to the Greek people on March 19, explained the Greek efforts to pacify the Orient within the limits established by the Treaty of Sevres and in accord with international authority but in the face of the fact that the Anatolian (Turkish Nationalist) organizations showed constant resistance against these efforts.

In perpetuating this abnormal and dangerous situation, these Anatolian organizations resorted to force to break the decisions imperiously imposed by a high consideration of civilization and by repeated sacrifices on the part of Greece, which saw for so long a time her inalienable national rights violated while waiting to see peace consolidated without further effusion of blood.

We anticipated a new attempt to overturn the status established by the Treaty of Sevres, as revealed by the movement of Turkish troops and concentrations on our front in Asia Minor.

Therefore it was necessary to renege our troops in order to protect the Christian population which was exposed to these (Turkish) brutalities and to add these reinforcements to our army whose duty it is to impose peace in Asia Minor.

(Signed), CONSTANTINE, KING.

GREEKS CANNOT RELY ON SUPPORT OF FRANCE

Hellenic Troops Now Penetrating the Ismid Region.

LONDON, March 29.—The Greeks have occupied Ada Bazar, in the Ismid region of Asia Minor, according to a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Athens.

There is reason to believe, says a Constantinople despatch to the London Times, that the Turkish Nationalist command has selected a line of defence running approximately from Kastamuni southward to Angora, where the main Turkish forces are concentrating.

Gen. Gouraud, commander of the French army in the East, who arrived at Constantinople yesterday, made a statement to the press in which, according to a London Times despatch from Constantinople, he warns the Turks that France's sympathy is subordinated to her alliance with the British, "sealed by blood on the field of battle."

He points out the fact that an agreement which recently was concluded between the Nationalists and the Russian Bolsheviks might interfere with fulfillment of the Franco-Turk agreement, which would secure great advantages to Turkey. But, he says, if the Turks insisted on fighting, soldiers who had unflinchingly resisted the most formidable enemy in the world for four years could easily capture a dozen Alibabas.

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, March 29.—The capture of Afun-Karahissar by the Greeks followed fighting of a desperate and sanguinary character, according to details reaching here. The Greeks advanced fifty miles in five days, crossing the snow-capped mountains over precipitous trails.

The actual attack against the town lasted for eight hours, with the terrain favoring the Turks, who a dozen times took the offensive. Finally the Greeks in three bayonet charges dislodged the followers of Mustafa Kemal from the heights. Afun-Karahissar has been a distributing center for Turkish troops.

Occupation of Afun-Karahissar, it is declared by newspapers here, makes the Greek march to Angora easy.

Declaration that the Greek delegates at the Near Eastern Conference in London had "saved the Sevres treaty from falling into ruin," and that their efforts had been directed toward "the last word being given Hellenic arms," was made here by Premier Kalogeropoulos on his return from London.

"Greek guns are now having their say," he continued, "and they will be heard more and more. We will be able to secure the necessary financial support from allied sources to carry on the war. I am sure the continuation of the struggle will bring victory to Greece."

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 29.—Greek naval forces, it was learned to-day, are on watch in the Black Sea for Turkish transports in an effort to prevent the escape from Constantinople to Anatolia of Turkish officers and soldiers who, in view of the neutrality of the Allies in the hostilities between the Greeks and the Turkish Nationalists, had petitioned the allied authorities for permission to leave.

SCOUTS REVOLT RUMOR.

Mexican Government Explains Socialist Action.

MEXICO CITY, March 29.—Explanation was made concerning alarmist rumors published in the American press to the effect that Bolsheviks proclaimed a May 1 revolution at a Socialist congress held at Pachuca.

There was a gathering of representatives of the third international and declared for the organization of labor, according to the Government official version made public here.

WEEKS TO CONSULT HARDING ON A NEW CHIEF OF STAFF

Won't Make a Selection Before Doing So—Pershing Not for Job, but Will Soon Get Assignment to Meet His Rank.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Secretary Weeks to-day set at rest all rumors regarding the new Chief of Staff of the army by declaring that no selection had been made and that he had not discussed the matter with the President and would not make even a tentative selection until he had consulted Mr. Harding.

Mr. Weeks explained that under the law only officers of, or above, the rank of Major-General, whose names appear on the general staff initial eligibility list may be chosen for the place. At present, he said, only the following are eligible: Gen. Pershing and Major-Generals March, Bullard, Dickman, Harbord, Morrison, Sumner and Wood.

In addition, most of the officers Secretary Weeks this week will designate for recess appointments as Major-Generals will also be eligible for Chief of Staff. Mr. Weeks has not announced who will appear on this list.

The list sent to Congress by former Secretary Baker, which failed of confirmation, included Brigadier-Generals McAndrew, Hines, Shanks, Cronkrite, Read, Bundy, Wright, Muir, Menoher, Allen and Haan. In addition to these names it was considered certain that the War Department that the name of Brigadier-General Clarence R. Edwards would appear on the revised list prepared by Secretary Weeks.

Of the twenty officers who thus will be eligible for Chief of Staff, a number are already considered to be eliminated for various reasons. Gen. Pershing's high rank and unique position in the army are considered such as to make it improbable that he would be considered for the post even if they are confirmed as major-generals, as their names do not appear on the initial general staff eligibility lists, as made public at the War Department. Those eliminations leaves fifteen names from which Secretary Weeks must select the next Chief of Staff.

The War Secretary also announced to-day that within two or three weeks he would make an announcement regarding the future duties of Gen. Pershing, who is now awaiting some assignment to duty commensurate with his rank as General of the Army.

Continued from First Page.

league covenant from the treaty and still another plan which would involve a British-Franco-American alliance.

The attitude of the French Government is shrouded in even more mystery than is the mission of the French envoy. The purpose of the reserve exercised is not disguised, for it leaves the question of wide latitude for judgment and decision.

First of all it is expected that the Government of the United States will make clear that it expects respect for its rights growing out of the war. While M. Viviani does not speak for any other nation than his own, any negotiations which may be initiated between the Governments of France and the United States will be noted with keen interest by other nations. In this sense the conversations M. Viviani will have with the heads of the Washington Government may well furnish the basis for negotiations with other Powers. They will necessarily chart the course of this Government in determining the question of how peace with Germany shall be attained.

FRENCH ALLIANCE WILL DINE VIVIANI SATURDAY

Before Return Here He Is Going to Cardinal's Funeral.

Rene Viviani will return to New York Friday evening to be the guest Saturday at a luncheon of the delegates of the Federation of the French Alliance in North America, at the Plaza.

He was accompanied to Washington by the members of his party, Stephane Lausanne, editor of Le Matin, and Marcel Knecht, his secretary. Gaston Liebert, French Consul-General, rode with them from the Vanderbilt to the Pennsylvania Station, where Stationmaster William Egan met them. The automobile, which was Rodman Wanamaker's, was decorated with American and French flags. A squad of motorcycle police under Capt. Anthony Howe preceded it.

M. Viviani received several callers at the hotel yesterday morning, among them James W. Gerard, formerly Ambassador to Germany; William D. Boyer, and Herbert S. Houston. Mr. Houston informed M. Viviani of plans for a meeting to be held in his honor at Carnegie Hall Monday evening, April 11. The committee includes Anne Morgan, Elizabeth Cutting, Frederic R. Coudert and Col. F. W. Galbraith. M. Viviani declined privately with Consul-General Liebert at his home, 474 Park avenue. To-morrow M. Viviani will attend the funeral of Cardinal Gibbons in Baltimore. Ambassador Jusserand will accompany him from Washington, and they will be met upon their arrival in Baltimore by James A. Flaherty, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven to be named.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 29.

President Harding let it be known to-day that there will be no recess nominations of members of the diplomatic corps. No selections for this service will be announced until after the convening of the extraordinary session of Congress on April 11.

The understanding is that Secretary of State Hughes and Under Secretary Fletcher are considering a long list of those available for the different appointments, with a view of making up a slate for recommendation to the President. Mr. Harding still is experiencing difficulty in finding the proper men for members of the Shipping Board, and it now appears likely that these nominations will be deferred until Congress convenes. Some of the members have been decided on, but not all. There are seven